Cowden Syndrome and Other PTEN-Related Disorders: A Patient-Oriented Symposium

Join us for our annual educational conference focused on Cowden syndrome and other PTEN mutation-related disorders. This event is geared towards affected patients and their families but all are welcome to attend.

The event will feature experts in the fields of Genetics, Gastroenterology, Primary Care, Neurosurgery and Psychology presenting topics and answering questions.

Saturday, June 10, 2017

9 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

Biomedical Research Tower, Room 105
460 W. 12th Ave.
Columbus, OH 43210

Parking vouchers will be provided for the 12th Avenue parking garage.

Continental breakfast will be provided.

For those unable to attend the symposium in person, it will be available for live screen and audio sharing. Directions regarding this will be available closer to the event.

Once the event is completed, lectures will be posted online. In addition, lectures from previous conferences are available. These can be found at: <https://go.osu.edu/cowden>

Please RSVP by Friday, May 26 indicating in-person or WebEx attendance to Tracy Hansel at GI.Conference@osumc.edu or 614-366-9480.
